WINGS VALUED AT $15,000 STOLEN FROM STORE SAFE

Policeman, Attracted by Jewelry on Sidewalk in Front of 2518 N. 14th Street, Discovers the Robbery.

DAMON RINGS SECURE IN BOX

Twelve Trays of Jewelry Taken in Burglary—Doors Pried Open and Crowbar Used on Safe.

Twelve trays of set rings were stolen last night from a safe in the jewelry store of Henry A. Koke, 2518 North Fourteenth street. Koke said the value was between $15,000 and $20,000, while his insurance was only a fraction of that sum. A strong box containing diamond rings was secure when the robbery was discovered at 3:05 a. m. by a policeman.

The attention of the policeman was attracted by jewelry on the sidewalk in front of the store. The door had been pried open by a bolt and key lock, had been pried open, the combinations on the outer and inner doors of the safe had been broken and a crowbar was used to break the safe. A bank book, with $10 in currency between its leaves was on the floor.

PHONE OPERATOR GETS WARRANT FOR FOREMAN'S WIFE

She Says Other Accused Her of Lying About Husband's Whereabouts When She Phoned for Him.

"RANG UP EVEN WHEN HE WAS HOME"

Employee of Roundhouse in East St. Louis Charges Mrs. Dora Connor With Throwing Pepper in Eyes.

A warrant charging assault with a deadly weapon was issued today in East St. Louis for the arrest of Mrs. Dora Connor of 2701 Bond avenue, East St. Louis, on complaint of Miss Alma N. Shadwell, 24, of 3011 Bailey avenue, St. Louis, that Mrs. Connor, at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, dashed pepper in her eyes and beat her with a baseball bat.

Miss Shadwell is stenographer and telephone operator in the office of the Burlington Railroad roundhouse near the Relay Depot, East St. Louis, where Robert E. Connor, Mrs. Connor's husband, is foreman.

Miss Shadwell stated that Mrs. Connor entered the office yesterday with her 12-year-old son, who carried the baseball bat, and after beating Miss Shadwell, threw the pepper on her and then took the bat and struck her on the head several times, struck Connor, who was in an adjoining room, could rescue her from his wife's attack.

Mrs. Connor drove away in her automobile immediately after the attack, and Miss Shadwell, suffering from smarting eyes, and confusion of the head, was treated by a physician and taken to her home, where she received a Post-Dispatch reporter today.

Miss Shadwell's statement. "Mrs. Connor for some time has been accusing me of lying to her concerning the whereabouts of her husband during business hours, when she would telephone him at the office and not find him there," Miss Shadwell related. "Sometimes when she would telephone her husband when I would be out in the yards and when I so informed her, she would say, 'I lied.' She carried this sort of thing so far that, sometimes when her husband was at home, she would telephone the office and ask for him, and when I would say that he probably was out in the yards, she would shriek back that I lied and that he was at home."

"On Aug. 2 Mr. Connor discharged me on the ground that I had reported late for work. Five times in the previous month, and I took the matter up with the union, which had me reinstated four days later. This made Mrs. Connor more furious than ever, and on that day she came to the office and soundly berated me, telling me that my parents evidently needed the money badly or I wouldn't have the call to work where I was not wanted."

FALLS 19,000 FEET, RIGHTS HIS PLANE, AND LANDS SAFELY

Unconscious Because of Cold, Army Aviator Regains Faculties 400 Feet Above Earth.

By the Associated Press.
MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich., Jan. 30.—Unconscious because of the severe cold, Lieut. James B. Summers, a pilot of the first pursuit group at Selfridge field, fell from an altitude of 19,000 feet within 400 feet of the ground here Saturday afternoon, a drop of nearly four miles, before he recovered his senses, righted his plane and made a safe landing. It is officially reported that Lieut. Summers was only half conscious when other aviators reached him after his descent. Examining physicians announced vital nerves over both eyes had been frozen, causing temporary blindness, and that unconsciousness probably followed in a few seconds. He practically had recovered, it was announced, yesterday.

MOSUL OIL DISPUTE DISCUSSED BY THE LEAGUE COUNCIL

Action in Matter Awaits Indication From Turks as to Acceptance of League's Jurisdiction.

MATTER BROUGHT UP BY LORD BALFOUR

Article XVII of Covenant Cited as Enabling Controversy Between Member and Nonmember.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, Jan. 30.—The dispute between Great Britain and Turkey over the Irak frontier, involving the oil-producing fields of Mosul, was brought before the council of the League of Nations today by the Earl of Balfour. The council took no action in the matter as it is awaiting an indication from the Turks as to whether they will accept the league's jurisdiction.

Mosul, said Lord Balfour, was a question for the league to consider because the Irak was mandated territory, Great Britain acting in that territory in behalf of the League of Nations. The question furthermore was of interest to the league, he said, because of the menace to peace that was involved in the dispute. He said he thought Article XVII of the league covenant might give the Turks apprehension that they would not be admitted to an equal footing with the council.

The resolution was almost identical with the Borah naval bill amendment, which Borah withdrew recently after administration leaders had said it would embarrass State Department negotiations then in progress.

MAIN POINTS IN TREATY READY FOR TURKS TOMORROW

By the Associated Press.
LAUSANNE, Jan. 30.—Fear of what might result from an abrupt termination of the Near East conference here tomorrow when the allies formally present their treaty to the Turkish delegation, is apparently having a tempering influence at this critical stage of the negotiations, and influences are at work to prevent Wednesday's allied pronouncement from savoring of an ultimatum.

BORAH RENEWS HIS CONFERENCE PROPOSAL

Clause Added to Include Naval Armament and Aircraft Limitations.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Senator Borah renewed in the Senate today his proposal for an international economic conference to be called by President Harding.

The resolution was almost identical with the Borah naval bill amendment, which Borah withdrew recently after administration leaders had said it would embarrass State Department negotiations then in progress.

NEW BERLIN SUBWAY OPENED

Railroad, Kaiser's Last Accomplishment, Was Started in 1913.

BERLIN, Jan. 30.—Though half of Berlin's population no longer can afford to ride on the street cars, the new subway, which cost 150 marks a ride now—the German capital today opened up its "North and South" subway. This underground railroad was the Kaiser's last accomplishment and was inaugurated in 1913. Throughout the war Wilhelm insisted that the construction of this subway continue and women and children worked day and night underneath Friedrichstrasse, where Berlin's gay and glittering life pulsated all the time.

RUHR REFLECTION ON EXCHANGE

Tension in Occupied District Causing Uneasiness on Foreign Market.

LONDON, Jan. 30.—The tension in the Ruhr has caused increased uneasiness in the foreign exchange market where currencies are daily depreciating. This morning the mark was quoted at 195.00 to the pound sterling. The French franc sold at 74.05 and the Italian lira at 94 1/2. The dollar rate was comparatively steady, hovering around 4.63 1/2.

FRANCE TO PUT CUSTOMS RING AROUND THE RUHR VALLEY

Agents and Troops to Hem in Area and Coal Shipments Into Germany Are Expected to Be Shut Off Feb. 1 on Berlin's Failure to Make Reparations Payment.

EXPULSION OF GERMAN OFFICIALS CONTINUES

Few Trains Run by the French; Miners Working; Gen. Weygand's Train Stopped by Obstruction; Accident, Germans Say.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and the Chicago Daily News.
BERLIN, Jan. 30.—"All telephone and telegraph wires and subterranean cables in the Ruhr district are cut and most of the locomotives have left the Ruhr centers for unoccupied Germany."

This report is carried in all the newspapers this morning. Attempts to get Essen, Duesseldorf, or Cologne on the telephone from Berlin today were unsuccessful.

The German sabotage policy is in effect and may be followed by a general strike on Thursday when France will establish the new customs line running along the border of the Ruhr basin.

The greatest secrecy was maintained as to the result of the conference, but the indications point to the establishment of a customs ring around the occupied Ruhr Valley and the complete stoppage of coal shipments into the interior of Germany which thus far have been permitted by the French. It is believed that these measures will be put into effect Feb. 1, coincident with Germany's failure to meet the reparation payment falling due tomorrow.

Customs officers who have been stationed at Duesseldorf and Essen for several days have received orders to proceed to the frontier of the occupied territory at points where the railroads enter Germany. They have also been ordered to the locks and canals on the Rivers Lippe and Rhine.

An attempt to wreck the train on which Gen. Weygand and Minister Le Trocquer were traveling to Duesseldorf is reported to have occurred at Dueren last evening. Other incidents of sabotage, such as the wrecking of signal boxes on the Ruhr railroads, have come to the attention of the occupation officials.

FRANCE TO LEAVE RUHR GRADUALLY AS GERMANY PAYS

Poincare Says Occupation Is Not Good Thing From Point of View of French Security.

ULTIMATUM TO BE HANDED TO BERLIN

Will Contain Threat to Seal Valley Unless Germans Submit Willingly to French Demands.

By FERDINAND TOTH, Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World. (Copyright 1923, by the Post-Dispatch and New York World.)

PARIS, Jan. 30.—Premier Poincare, speaking last night to American correspondents, made this definite pronouncement:

"France has no intention whatsoever of remaining in the Ruhr. We have gone there as a sanction calculated to make Germany pay. It is not at all a good thing for France to be in the Ruhr from the point of view of her security. On the Rhine we are safe, but in the Ruhr we occupy a dangerous position and might have to retreat should Germany arm resistance. But in that case we would advance somewhat."

The correspondent asked the Prime Minister if it was true that blast furnaces were closing down one after another in the Ruhr.

"Will Hold Out to the End." "Yes, it is true," he answered, "and more and more will have to close down owing to lack of German coke. France will, however, hold out much longer than three months and as a matter of fact she is going to hold out to the end, even if, as may be necessary, every furnace closes. I am from that part of the country myself and have had the directors up here to see me. They have promised to hold out to the end."

Gen. Weyand goes to Brussels to tell German government to the French ultimatum, which is to be issued simultaneously with the erection of the customs barrier cutting off the Ruhr from unoccupied Germany.

The gist of this ultimatum will be: "Hereafter is a list of all reparations in kind and money which you owe us under the Versailles treaty. We give you eight days to accept the following terms: Give us the State mines in the Rhineland and Westphalia. Give us participation in all your wealth by turning over to us shares in your industries or making some other arrangement for expediting them partially for our benefit."

Threat to Seal Ruhr. "Join willingly in our desire to identify ourselves by taking your substance and your riches until the time you free yourself by a loan. If you accept, naturally all your factories will have to obey the French and work in harmony with them. If you refuse, we will seal the Ruhr and not let you have iron or coal."

Immediate French efforts will be directed to assuring a supply of Ruhr coke and coal for Belgium and France. As each German official or railway worker obstructs, he will be replaced by a Frenchman. France cannot officially object to British shipments of coal to Germany as France is also buying heavily from English firms. But there is no question the French Government has its eye on those English ships crossing the North Sea.

Polish are eating frozen meat from home rather than requisitioned food. There is a cattle shortage. Last year enough potatoes to last a year and corn for three weeks, but it is emphasized the five French divisions in the Ruhr are entirely self-dependent for supplies.

Near East Situation. One gathers that the French Government considers the near eastern situation as more serious than the Ruhr. The Premier telegraphed to Mustafa Kemal imploring him to sign the Lausanne treaty. Franklin Bouillon, who negotiated the Franco-Angora agreement, is sending his personal appeal. There is genuine fear the Angora nationalists intend marching on Mosul and taking advantage of the special European situation created by the Ruhr occupation. But the European situation is more serious than the Government seems to think. Inter-Allied

NEAR EAST FAMINE MAKES MOTHERS DESERT CHILDREN

Refugees in Miserable Plight, With 100,000 Persons Seriously Ill or Dying.

Correspondence of the Associated Press.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Dec. 27.—One hundred thousand refugees are seriously ill or dying on the coasts of Asia Minor, Thrace and the Greek mainland. No nation as such has come forward to help them. Private relief organizations seem helpless to cope with the entire problem. It is too vast. Greece is face to face with a social catastrophe. Internal order and security are menaced by the hordes of starving and distracted fugitives pouring into the country. Famine and disease are stalking the Aegean islands. Women and children are dying everywhere. Even so great and precious a thing as mother-love cannot survive the agony and despair wrought by the sudden breaking up of families and homes. At Samsoun, on the Black Sea, mothers in their desperation are abandoning their children and fleeing for their lives on board any ship that will take them. The parentless children are left to the merciful hands of American women relief workers. Their fathers have long since been deported or killed.

Maddened by Hunger. In Thrace, Greek soldiers and refugees, maddened by hunger, are robbing and sacking the countryside. In Constantinople, a city of a thousand sorrows, pedestrians at night stumble over the half-dead forms of children huddled in doorways and alleys. Today a caravan of dejected and exhausted refugees from Anatolia swarmed up the Grande Rue de Pera of the capital like famished wolves. Fifty thousand Turkish refugees, 45,000 Greeks and Armenians, and 14,000 Russians fill the capital's cup of misery to overflowing.

Help From Outside Necessary. Typhus, smallpox and dysentery are devastating the refugee areas in Thrace, Pinaris and Salonica. MINOR FLAWS IN STATE'S EVIDENCE ACQUIT MELTON

Youth, at Second Trial, Is Found Not Guilty of the Murder of Policeman McGrath.

Correspondence of the Associated Press.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 30.—The State's testimony, magnified skillfully by counsel for the defense, brought the acquittal of Henry A. Melton, 20 years old, in his second trial for the murder of Patrolman John J. McGrath, who was shot to death on St. Louis avenue, near King's highway, the evening of Dec. 5, 1921.

The jury in Melton's first trial disagreed, standing 8 to 4 for conviction. One of the jurors in the second trial, only two voted on the first ballot, the evening of Dec. 5, 1921.

MINOR FLAWS IN STATE'S EVIDENCE ACQUIT MELTON

Youth, at Second Trial, Is Found Not Guilty of the Murder of Policeman McGrath.

Correspondence of the Associated Press.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 30.—The State's testimony, magnified skillfully by counsel for the defense, brought the acquittal of Henry A. Melton, 20 years old, in his second trial for the murder of Patrolman John J. McGrath, who was shot to death on St. Louis avenue, near King's highway, the evening of Dec. 5, 1921.

VAN SWERINGENS GET CONTROL OF THE CHESAPEAKE & OHIO

Permission Granted by I. C. C. to Cleveland Group to Assume Seven Places on Road's Board.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Authority was granted by the Interstate Commerce Commission today to the Van Sweringens group of Cleveland, which now controls the New York, Chicago & St. Louis Railroad, the Toledo, St. Louis & Western and other lines in the Middle West, to take over control of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad by assuming seven places on its board of directors.

The Board of Election Commissioners today announced candidates for the Board of Election, in the election April 3, must be nominated by petitions, to be filed with the Election Commissioners not less than 15 days before the election. This would make the filing limit March 15 today by Senator Kinney, the board stated.

KLAN GRAND JURY WITNESS WHO DISAPPEARED BACK ON HIS JOB

Arrested at Spyker, La. Month
After Search for Him Began.

By the Associated Press.
MONROE, La., Jan. 22.—Harold Teegerstrom, timekeeper at the Southern Carbon Co. plant at Spyker, La., for whom a country-wide search was begun by Federal agents and State authorities following his disappearance Dec. 23, is back on his old job today. He was arrested yesterday and released on $500 bond for his appearance as a material witness at the grand jury investigation at Ruston in March into the Morehouse Parish kidnap-ing activities which resulted last August in the death of Watt Daniel and Thomas P. Richard, Mer Rouge citizens.

Teegerstrom was taken into custody at Spyker after he had suddenly appeared in Monroe earlier in the day in almost as mysterious a manner as he had departed from the bunkhouse at Carbon plant shortly before the open hearing at Ruston. He told of having visited Fildorado, Ark.; Alexandria, Baton
Rouge and other places in Louisiana.
He declared he was not kidnaped and not forced to leave Spyker.

GUARD AGAINST FLU

Take no chances with Spanish Influenza this winter. It attacks persons whose run-down systems can't resist it.
Lack of exercise, fresh fruit and

EXTRAORDINARY!

Last year we held a Fur Sale that was the talk of St. Louis. Never before had such values been offered on high-grade furs. On the anniversary of that memorable event we will hold another Fur classic. Tomorrow will begin another record-making sale—just as big—just as radical—just as welcome.

It is our purpose to gain for this sale a reputation for unusual value-giving on furs of highest quality, such as no similar event has ever enjoyed. Our preparations have been made accordingly. Come tomorrow. We promise you something truly amazing in Fur values, and you will find, as hundreds of other women have found, that a Sonnenfeld Fur Sale

"Once upon a time" we had squeezes on our eyes to clear our vision, just as the completely equipped automobile now has a squeeze on its windshield to keep it clear of rain or snow. This interesting fact was told to the thousands listening in on last night's K S D radio program by Dr. Frank Blair Hanson of Washington University. This yield no longer exists except in the most rudimentary

K S D AUDIENCE TOLD BODY IS A MUSEUM

state, he said, but what there is of it is so definitely there—in the inner corner of our eye—that it furnishes another of the many proofs of the ancestry of man, he declared. Birds and some of the lower animals still possess this, as do fish and all other vertebrates.

Dr. Hanson concluded last night a series of talks on natural history which have attracted nation-wide attention. Letters from all over America referring to Dr. Hanson's talks have been received at Station K S D and so much interest has been manifested that Dr. Hanson has consented to give another series of talks later in the season.

The Body as a Museum. His subject last night was "The Queerest Museum in the World." This museum, he declared, was the human body. Among its interesting specimens are the nearly 200 rudimentary structures which once were active and useful parts of our anatomy. Some of these are the third eyelid, the vermiform appendix, the muscles which move the ears and which a few persons still can use, and a small point on the inner curve of the ear which has been called the Darwinian Point, because it is supposed to be a survival of the pointed ear of our earliest ancestors, and which occurs more frequently in men than in women. Lack of time, he said, prevented his going on with this cataloging of the museum's collection, and after his talk had ended dozens of persons telephoned in to ask that he continue his story of this wonderful museum—the human body.

The University Musical Research Club, an organization of women singers and instrumentalists living in and near University City, presented the music program and gave an interesting list of numbers. Ensemble songs, vocal and instrumental solo and a reading of one of the most loved stories of O. Henry were presented under the direction of Mrs. Hugo Wiener. Accompaniments for the choral numbers were played by Mrs. J. L. Bowling.

THREE ST. LOUISANS HELD AS ROBBERS IN EAST ST. LOUIS

Men Alleged to Have Used Auto Hired to Attend Funeral, in Auto Station Holdup.

A charge of highway robbery was filed yesterday against Peter J. O'Donnell, Derby Caruth and Ben Lyhurst, all of St. Louis, who were arrested in East St. Louis Saturday on suspicion of having taken $37.70 from the cash drawer of the Standard Oil Co.'s filling station at Fifteenth street and Lynch avenue, a half-hour previous to their arrest. James Duncan, manager of the filling station, had identified O'Donnell and Lyhurst as the men who pointed revolvers at him.

Caruth was driving the auto in which the men were riding when arrested. All deny participating in the robbery.

CANADIAN CONVENT BURNED

Quebec Fire Thirteenth in Series at Catholic Institution.

By the Associated Press. QUEBEC, Jan. 20.—The convent of Notre Dame du Bon Conseil at St. Gedeon, Lake Saint John, in an isolated district, was destroyed by fire Saturday night and Sunday. News of the fire, the thirteenth of a series in Canadian Catholic institutions, reached here today.

All the nuns escaped, but the contents of the convent were destroyed.

Store Serving 200 Families Burns. About 200 families in Northwest St. Louis County face the prospect of a long journey for supplies, following the fire which Sunday destroyed the only store at Centaur, the principal settlement of the community. The flames totally destroyed building and stock, doing a damage estimated at $20,000. Anton Leiwicke, owner of the store, was in church when the fire started.

Nature sick from constipation

Asks to be Helped—Not Humbled

A constipated system is just begging for real food with natural laxative properties.

In this condition no definite good—and much harm—can come from neat physics and laxatives.

Medical science knows this and when years of research for basic foods which could be combined to make breakfast mash or cereal, was rewarded by the discovery of Cereal Meal, medical science endorsed it.

You Cannot Eat Cereal Meal and Have Constipation too

Because it is through the lack of such foods that you have constipation. Otherwise Cereal Meal is a breakfast food that becomes an instant favorite because of its flavor and palatability.

Cereal Meal costs less than 3c a portion. Costs much less than physics and laxatives and is your breakfast food. 2-lb. can $1.

Cereal Meal can be obtained at JOHNSON, BRUSH, DRUG CO., WOLFF-WILSON DRUG CO., J. F. CONRAD, GROCERY STORES, JUDGE & DOLPH DRUG STORES and other leading druggists and grocers, or if necessary via parcel post from The Cereal Meal Corporation, 121 Chambers Street, St. Louis, Mo.

PLAN TO CELEBRATE THANKSGIVING NOV. 11

Legion Post Sets Afoot Movement to Determine Public Sentiment on Joint Holiday Plan.

A movement to determine what public support could be found for a proposal to fix the annual celebration of Thanksgiving each year for Nov. 11, Armistice day, was begun last night by Lloyd R. Boutwell, Post of the American Legion, composed largely of physicians, at a meeting in the auditorium of the St. Louis Medical Society.

A resolution was passed for submission of the proposal to other St. Louis posts of the Legion for discussion. The suggestion arose as a result of alleged public apathy to Armistice day, due, it is believed, to the unwillingness of some business men to generally observe two holidays in the same month. It was pointed out during last night's discussion that Thanksgiving has no fixed date and that its celebration in the last week of November has no calendar significance. It originally was proclaimed by the Puritans to give thanks for a bounteous harvest which in New England occurs in November or October. It further was pointed out that the custom of annual presidential proclamation followed the Civil War, when the nation desired to give thanks for the end of internal strife.

Speakers agreed that something must be done to emphasize the importance of Armistice day for annual nation-wide celebration and most of them were of the opinion that if Armistice day and Thanksgiving celebrations were merged that the spirit in the day which the American Legion wishes to be perpetuated would outlive a waning significance of Thanksgiving.

LEGION CHARTER IS REVOKED

Indiana Post Opposed Bill Against Paid Sports on Memorial Day.

By the Associated Press. INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 29.—The charter of one Indiana American Legion post has been revoked and the Judge Advocate of the Department of Indiana of the legion, H. C. Harrington, has been dismissed by Perry Faulkner, State Commander. The measure is being sponsored by the American Legion and the charter revocation was said to be due to the post's opposition to it. Another post of the American Legion joined the forces of the opposition today.

The measure is said to be aimed at the 500-mile automobile race which is held annually in this city on Memorial day. Theodore Myers, secretary and manager of the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, has announced that passage of the bill means the removal of the Speedway race from Indianapolis. Theodore Myers, treasurer of the legion, has characterized the bill as the "work of professional reformers."

3 DRUG COMPANY OFFICERS INDICTED UNDER DRY LAW

One Thousand Offenses, Involving Whisky Valued at $1,000,000, Alleged.
By the Associated Press.
CINCINNATI, O., Jan. 30.—Three officials of the Independent Drug Co., of Cincinnati, were indicted yesterday by the Federal Grand Jury on the charge of conspiring to violate the Federal Prohibition law. Those indicted are Otto Katz, president; George H. Lander, vice president; and Sidney H. Miller, secretary.
One thousand offenses involving $1,000,000 worth of whisky, according to United States District Attorney Morrow, are alleged in the indictment, which charges the three men with having conspired to divert the whisky, without proper permits, into channels for use as a beverage.
The indictments set forth that the whisky was sold without permits at Owensboro, Frankfort and Louisville, Ky., and at Troy, Ohio, vice president; and Sidney H. Miller, secretary.
The defendants also are charged with failing to keep a record of sales of whisky and alcohol and failing to attach proper label, soliciting, repeating and permitting employees of the Federal Distributing Co. and the Independent Drug Co. to solicit and receive orders from all parts of the country.
The indictment is the result of weeks of investigation by Federal Prohibition agents.
Included retail druggists from various cities. The Independent Drug Co. is one of the largest wholesale drug concerns in Cincinnati.
The defendants also are charged with failing to keep a record of sales of whisky and alcohol and failing to attach proper label, soliciting, repeating and permitting employees of the Federal Distributing Co. and the Independent Drug Co. to solicit and receive orders from all parts of the country.

25 YEARS FOR KILLING FATHER

Judge Says Man Who Sold Slayer Moonshine Ought to Go With Him.
By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Jan. 30.—Outlawed liquor cost one man a 25-year sentence for killing his father and another a $200 fine for maintaining an alleged liquor club.
Judge Kavanagh yesterday, in sentencing Helmut Klooskin, 38 years old, to prison for 25 years for the murder of his 77-year-old father, said: "The man who sold you that moonshine should be right here with you." Federal Judge Wilkerson fined Thomas H. McGraw, manager

DRIVER OF AUTO SPEEDS AWAY AFTER RUNNING DOWN MAN

Accident to George C. Sloan Sunday
Not Reported Until Yesterday—
Other Mishaps.

Police are seeking the driver of an automobile which sped away after seriously injuring George C. Sloan, 70, of 1076A Holladay avenue, Sunday. Sloan was not able to report the occurrence to the police until yesterday. He is at Barnes Hospital suffering from a fractured arm and internal hurts. He said he was alighting from a Delmar-Olive street car at Taylor avenue and Washington boulevard when a machine, eastbound on Washington, made a short turn into Taylor, knocking him down.

Persons injured yesterday in automobile accidents were: Mrs. Marie P. Sullivan, 24, of 1484 Clara avenue, injuries to the back and legs in tripping over a low rope between two machines at Easton and Clara avenues; Hyman Lipton, 49, of 2540 Broadway street, internal injuries when knocked from his newspaper car by an automobile at Adelaide and Fair avenues; Albert Stock, 46, of 5 South Euclid avenue, scalp wounds and bruises when knocked down at Tenth and Pine streets; Dr. William P. Donovan, 25, intern at Mullanphy Hospital, fractured hand when thrown from his machine in collision with another at King's highway drive in East Park; Frank Weber, 46, of 1227 South Sixth street, cuts and bruises when knocked down at Broadway and Hickory street; and Dr. Walter C. Kirchner, 4921 McPherson avenue, bruised when thrown out of his automobile, which overturned in collision with another at Penrose and Newstead avenues.

MANAGERS OF THREE KROGER GROCERIES REPORT ROBBERIES

Holdups Between 4 and 6 p. m. Yesterday by Two Armed Men—Total of $164.50 Obtained.

Managers of three Kroger groceries reported being held up and robbed by two armed men between 4 and 6 p. m. yesterday.

Charles Tebbenhoff, manager at 2107 California avenue, reported he was tied hand and foot and put in a rear room while the robbers took $70 from the register. Dr. William A. Kluegel, 2102 California avenue, released him. Two women witnessed the holdup from the outside.

Ernest Greiner, manager at 3760 Potomac street, was waiting on a woman customer when two men entered his store. When he looked at them they ordered him to "hurry" and wait "on the lady." As she departed they drew revolvers, he said, ordered him to a rear room and robbed the register of $45.

William Adler, manager at 5427 Market street, was tied with rope and left in a rear room by two men who entered his store while he was alone, he reported. He said they took $10 from his pockets and $29.50 from the register.

BURGLAR, SURPRISED IN HOUSE, ESCAPES PURSUERS

Woman Finds Inner Chain Lock Fastened and Secret Entrance Departing Through Rear Door.

A burglar surprised in the apartment of L. L. Rinear, Harlan Court Apartments, 5462 Delmar boulevard, at 3:30 p. m. yesterday, was pursued east in Delmar boulevard and across Union boulevard, to a lot on the northeast corner by the janitor and another occupant of the apartments. He escaped by running behind an oil filling station and into an alley.

Mrs. Rinear, returning home, started into her apartment and was checked by an inner chain lock which was fastened. She saw the burglar departing by a rear door leading to a balcony. Her cries attracted the janitor and others and they pursued the burglar.

Mrs. Rinear told the police that jewelry taken consisted of bedclothes, such as sheet, pillowcase, a wedding ring, watch, etc., the value of which she could not estimate.

DOCTOR AND NURSE CALLED

Go Before Grand Jury Investigating Fritz Mann Mystery.

By the Associated Press.
SAN DIEGO, Cal., Jan. 28.—Dr. Louis L. Jacobs of the Public Health Service Hospital at Camp Kearney, who was arrested in connection with the death of Fritz Mann, dancer, here on Jan. 7, and later released, was summoned before the county grand jury late today.

Another who appeared before the grand jury was Billie Minor, a nurse, who was mentioned in letters written by the dancer.

Sir Horace Plunkett's House Raided.

DUBLIN, Jan. 28.—Sir Horace Plunkett's house at Foxrock, County Dublin, was raided by an army band today. After expelling the occupants the visitors blew up the front part of the residence. The explosion shook the village. Sir Horace is in the United States.

Taxi Driver Kills Wife and Self.

BEARDSTOWN, Ill., Jan. 28.—Ben Drummond, a taxi cab driver, yesterday shot and killed his wife, Goldie Drummond, and then shot himself to death. Drummond and wife had been separated and the tragedy followed her return to the city.

AMERICAN HISTORY FOR CHILDREN

Loss of Haiti to France Brought About Sale of Vast Tract, From Gulf to Canadian Border, to United States.

Map Leader Was Taken From Santo Domingo to Die in French Prison.

By HENDRIK VAN LOON
Author of "The Story of Mankind."

(Copyright, 1923.)

THE most important event of Jefferson's administration was the purchase from France of that vast stretch of land, reaching from the Gulf of Mexico to the Canadian border, which was known as Louisiana. This territory had originally belonged to France by right of discovery and exploration, but in 1763, at the close of the Seven Years' War, she had ceded it to Spain. In 1800, Napoleon, who was anxious to build up a large colonial empire, persuaded Spain to give Louisiana back to France, offering in exchange for it the Grand Duchy of Tuscany. But Louisiana was a long way from France, and in between lay the ever watchful British navy, never far away from its possessions in the West Indies.

Now, the West Indian island of Santo Domingo had belonged to France for a long time, and would have made an excellent way station between Louisiana and France, and given the French navy a strong base in the West Indies. But in 1801, Toussaint L'Ouverture, a negro of remarkable military genius, who had restored order in the island after a period of chaos (the French republic, in its enthusiasm for Liberty, Fraternity and Equality had conferred full civil rights upon the mulattoes, and white citizens had objected, the plantation slaves had started a rebellion, in which the mulattoes joined them against the whites, and to add to the general turmoil, the British had invaded the island), Toussaint L'Ouverture, as we began to say, had succeeded, drew up a new Constitution for the island and demanded to be made Governor for life.

Napoleon did not like the look of this move on Toussaint's part and sent out his brother-in-law, Gen. Leclerc, with a large army to quell the ambitious Toussaint and restore slavery, which had been abolished a few years before. After a few months of struggle Toussaint surrendered, having been given a promise of personal liberty. Nevertheless, he was seized, put upon a French ship, and sent to Europe to die miserably in a French prison. Then came the order from Napoleon to restore slavery.

To the last man the blacks arose, under a new leader, Jean Dessalines, and the fight went on with unequalled savagery. Yellow fever broke out among the French troops. Leclerc died, and his home word that he would be forced to kill at least half the population in order to subdue the other half, and British warships began to poke their inquisitive noses around the island. Napoleon put aside his dreams of colonial empire and called his army home.

Haiti proclaimed its independence and Jean Jacques Dessalines made himself Emperor. To be sure, his subjects assassinated him a short time afterwards, but that, as Mr. Rudyard Kipling would say, is another story. We are concerned with the fate of Haiti only in its relation to Louisiana. With Haiti gone, Louisiana was no use to Napoleon, and he began to think how he could most profitably get rid of it.

"The color of your hair is perfect, Madame, and since I have been applying

ED. PINAUD'S HAIR TONIC

after the massage treatment, its lustre is simply wonderful."

"Yes, I have noticed that and also that it does not come out when I brush it. French parfumeurs certainly know the art of producing fine toilette preparations."

"Nothing equals the French products. Their chemists possess the secret of making exquisite adjuncts to the toilette of women of culture."

"That is true. For instance, the very first time you try ED. PINAUD'S Eau de Quin ne Hair Tonic, its purity and quality are at once evident and inspire confidence in its merit. I like its fragrance too. It is very refreshing. By the way, Madame, ED. PINAUD has brought out a new creation, Lilac TALC. You should try it. It is indeed exquisite."

WANTS BRITAIN DISAVOW REMA ABOUT CONGR

Senator McKellar Calls S. to Make Immediate mand Concerning win's Comment.

FIRST OUTBREAK OVER CRIT

Tennessee Democrat Exception to State That Congress Sto Way of Debt Settles

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Senator McKellar, of Tennessee, in the yesterday of Stanley Baldwin, Chancellor of the Exchequer, regarding the negotiations for the British debt, was "outbreak" in either house of the Baldwin statement, a charge of resentment had been various quarters at the time of his publication.

McKellar called upon the Senate to make "immediate" from the British Government new statements of its Chamberlain casting aspersions on the American Congress and the "Baldwin" statement. "The Tennessee Senator," statement given out by Baldwin that if Baldwin had "the same elements of sorrow and uttered the same words upon the American people in American Congress which here, the American Debt Commission should not have with him at all."

McKellar's Criticism "The British people," said McKellar, "have always been a people, and it is in line to me that these self-censoring people, but one of their own number these cancelled for, untrue statements to the American people and American Congress."

Senator McKellar said that the statement that "The British people" had "the same elements of sorrow and uttered the same words upon the American people in American Congress which here, the American Debt Commission should not have with him at all."

"Evidently," according to Baldwin, he had no trouble in dealing with the "Baldwin" statement. "It would be all plain sailing if it had not for what he evidently had in mind the ignorant Congress which he had indirectly to the British people, and it is in line to me that these self-censoring people, but one of their own number these cancelled for, untrue statements to the American people and American Congress."

Senator McKellar said that the statement that "The British people" had "the same elements of sorrow and uttered the same words upon the American people in American Congress which here, the American Debt Commission should not have with him at all."

"You when our British wanted to borrow the $4,000,000,000," he continued, "before both branches of Congress with compliments and with expressions of good sentiments of esteem and with gratitude, which they would never forget when payday comes and they deal in the dark."

"They even, apparently, have anything to say about giving on. They have a head of it goes half the British people that they made a deal for the British people, and it is in line to me that these self-censoring people, but one of their own number these cancelled for, untrue statements to the American people and American Congress."

BALES QUILTS HOUSE LEADERSHIP; MAXEY HIS SUCCESSOR

Change by Democrats in Lower House of Legislature Accomplished by Shrewd Manipulation

SALARY-CUT BILL PLACED ON CALENDAR

That Was Condition Demanded by Bales, but It Is Considered Hollow Victory in Fight With Speaker

By CURTIS A. BETTS.
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 30.—The resignation of Representative Bales of Shannon County as Democratic floor leader of the House, which has been expected for several days, was stated exclusively in the Post-Dispatch yesterday, was submitted to the caucus yesterday afternoon and was accepted. Representative Mader of Bates County was chosen to succeed Bales.

Bales' retirement was accomplished by rather shrewd legislative manipulation which made it possible for Bales to retire gracefully and yet gave Speaker Hunter, Caucus Chairman Roney and the others of the "Speaker's family" the victory in the contest which has been waged between them and Bales for several weeks.

Although Bales on several occasions has threatened to resign, he had not carried out his threat. The opposition to him wanted him out of

The way was opened this morning when word was conveyed to the opposition that Bales would resign if he could have placed on the calendar for engrossment the bill "Grand Rep-

to reduce the salaries of nearly all the employees in the Capitol. The bill had been reported unfavorably by the Committee on Official Salaries. The House then took a recess, and when it could not be placed on the calendar over the opposition which had developed to it. The word was passed around the House that Bailey was in a position to fight for the bill if he did not occupy an official caucus position.

When it became known that Bailey would be satisfied to retire if his bill was put in a position for future action, the opposition readily joined in the plan, believing undoubtedly that the bill would be a ready-made in either smothering or deferring its measure when it came up for passage, and that Bailey would have gained rather a hollow victory in getting it passed.

In the afternoon session Maxey introduced a resolution providing that the bill should go on the calendar, and providing for the appointment of a committee to make recommendations to the state departments to report to the House its opinion as to what changes should be made in salaries of State

Bill on Informal Calendar.
Bales and Whitecotton agreed the bill should go on the informal calendar and should not be called up until the committee reported.
The tally clerks announced the resolution received 77 votes, one more than enough for adoption. The Speaker and several others on intimate terms with him voted for the resolution, though it is known they are opposed to the bill.
Soon afterward Roney announced the call for the second session, which had no other purpose than to receive Bales' resignation. Bales explained to the caucus that a condition had arisen which made it impossible for him to continue as majority leader. He said he had a program of legislation he desired to advance, a program which he realized would be the target of much criticism, and he preferred the criticism should be directed at him personally rather than at him as the party leader on the floor. He said he did not want to put the party in the position of at-

Some Explaining Required.
The program for the caucus passed off very smoothly, the only difficulty that was encountered being from the fact that many members had not been informed in advance that Bales was to resign and it required some explaining to convince them that Bales' action was voluntary.

The suggestion of Maxey to succeed Bales was popular and no other member was considered for the office.

Maxey is a lawyer and resides in Butler. He was a member of the House in 1919 and 1921; and is considered a man of force and ability.

Non Intellecta Senectus.
We sat, my golden love and I,
Where elms their shadows flung.
The August day dropped slowly by,
And I was very young.

But now the elm trees bend with snow.
The brooks are bound with cold—
that was five long months ago.
And I am very old. H. H. C.

REPLENISH ILLINOIS RIVER SOON WILL BE ONLY A BIG SEWER

Game and Fish Officer Reports Fish
Are Being Killed by Chicago's Pollution of Waterway.

St. Louis, Ill., Jan. 30.—
Millions of fish are killed every year
by the pollution of Illinois streams, says officials of the State Waterways and Game and Fish Division.
There are now no fish in the Illinois river above Deoria, according to W.
Watson, chief of the Game and Fish Division, all having been killed by sewerage dumped into the river.
Mr. Watson said that the Chicago sewage has reached as far down as Havana, and soon will make of the Illinois River only a great sewer.
William L. Sackett, superintendent of the Division of Waterways.

The only way to curb the abuse is by legislation, compelling cities to install adequate sewage disposal plants,
Mr. Sackett said. The Legislature probably will be asked to consider legislation looking to this end before primary streams also are affected by the deadly substances along the river, according to these officials.

The Sananum River also has been polluted for years, Mr. Stratton pointed out.

REMINISCES OF HARRY WICKES
ARE ON EXHIBITION HERE

The city's first view of the works of Harry Wickes, a young etcher,
who has brought attention to himself only recently by being held this month in the Noonan-Kocian galleries, will be exhibited dramatically. He will exhibit the abundant

Mrs. John A. Ockerson of 5305
Delmar boulevard has invited about 30 guests to Hotel Chase this afternoon for an informal tea which she will give in honor of Mrs. Edward L. Preterorius who, with her small daughter, Edwina Preterorius, will depart late in the evening for a lengthy sojourn in California. Mrs.
Preterorius' mother, Mrs. Douglas G.
Cook, and her brother, Dickson
Cook, are at Coronado, and Mrs.
Preterorius will join them in Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Bates of 4325 Westminster place have joined the colony of St. Louisans spending the winter at Florida resorts. Miss Emilie Maffitt of 4440 Lindell boulevard will depart this week for the South to join the Bates family.

Mrs. J. C. McChesney has as her guest her cousin, Mrs. Robert M.

share the honors Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Brown.

Mrs. Helen Bolland McLaughlin
of Hotel Chase, her mother, Mrs.
J. D. Bolland, and her son have departed for Miami, Fla., to be gone
a month or six weeks. Before leaving St. Louis Mrs. McLaughlin gave a luncheon at the hotel in honor of Mrs. Chester Pioneer of California, who has been visiting her parents,
Mr. and Mrs. James H. McTague.

Mrs. Lida V. Bevis of the Hotel
Chase is the guest in Kansas City
of her nephew, Bevis Longstreth, and Mrs. Longstreth. Mrs. Bevis will remain away two weeks, going from Kansas City to Lyons, Kan., where she has interests in the salt mines.
Mr. and Mrs. Longstreth gave a dinner party for her Saturday night at the Kansas City Country Club.

One of the large bridge luncheons on the social calendar for today will be given by Miss Eleanor Klein, daughter of Mrs. J. S. Klein of 6903

CARLETON-SHERIDAN WEDDING TOMORROW

Miss Patricia Carleton to Become Bride of John Ensign Sheridan.

A QUIET though interesting wedding of tomorrow will be that of Miss Patricia Carleton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Murray Carleton of 4515 Lindell boulevard, to John Ensign Sheridan, son of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Sheridan of Janesville, Wis., which will take place at the home of Mr. and Mrs.
Carleton at 4:30 o'clock. Guests at the ceremony will be limited in number and a large reception will follow at 5 o'clock.

The bride will wear a draped gown
of white velvet, trimmed with pearls.
A long court train of cloth of silver has been draped to either shoulder at the back and extends several yards on the floor. The bridal veil, of tulle and will be fastened to the hair with rose point lace. Her flowers are to be valley lilies arranged in a shower bouquet. Her gift from Mr. Sheridan is a diamond and platinum wrist watch.

Miss Annie Laurie Carleton, who will attend her sister as maid of honor, is to be gowned in cream-colored lace, veiling crepe remaining of the same shade. The lowered waistline of the gown is encircled with a broken garland of French blue flowers, and at one side a lace drapery cascades down the side of the skirt. French blue flowers to match those on her gown have been used for her headdress and she will carry Columbia roses.

Mr. Sheridan will be attended by his brother, James Sheridan, also of Janesville. His sister, Miss Mary Sheridan, will arrive in St. Louis tonight for the wedding. Other out-of-town guests are Mrs. C. S. Sandoz and her brother, Kenneth Townsend, both of Baltimore. Mr.
Sheridan and his bride will have a month's honeymoon trip and upon their return will make their home temporarily with Mr. and Mrs. Carleton.

$27,000 CAMPAIGN FOR SYMPHONY UNDER WAY

Amount Required in Addition to $80,000 Subscribed to Meet Guarantee Requirements.

Solicitation of subscriptions to raise $27,000 needed to complete the 1932-33 season guarantee fund of the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra
was started this week by the Executive Committee of the board of directors and sponsors. The committee hopes to raise sufficient money to cover expenses for the balance of the season and to wipe out several old debts which have held over from previous years.

The $27,000 needed is in addition to the $80,000 already contributed, bringing the total of subscriptions to $107,000. The total expenses for the season are approximately $270,000,
box office receipts being about $175-000, leaving a deficit of $95,000. The deficit from the preceding season is $12,000.

The Appeal Sent Out.
An appeal for subscriptions for the Symphony Orchestra is contained in the following resolution adopted by the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce.

"The St. Louis Symphony Orchestra is one of the city's oldest and most valuable organizations and one which reflects great credit upon the municipality. No symphony orchestra can be entirely self-supporting.
The St. Louis Symphony Orchestra
needs $95,000 to cover the orchestra's deficit for the year 1933. This compares favorably with the $200,000
deficit of the Cleveland orchestra and the $278,000 deficit in Detroit.

"In view of these facts the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce recommends that our citizens generally who are desirous that our city shall rank high in the estimation of the country, give both encouragement and funds to make the Symphony Orchestra a success and to keep it free from debt."

John Fowler, president of the Symphony Orchestra Association, in a statement made public today declares that individual contributions to the orchestra have been generally much smaller than such contributions in other cities that maintain similar orchestras.

President's Statement.
He said:
"The St. Louis Orchestra has had 43 years of unbroken operation, though in 1860 it was in existence.
It largely helped to demonstrate to the United States the civic value of symphony orchestras. But its very success has increased its difficulties.

When the other Western cities felt the need of orchestras, their wealthy citizens gave most generously to the founding and support of the orchestra; for instance, the leading subscription in Cincinnati is $50,000; in Detroit it is $75,000 and in Cleveland it is $20,000. On the other hand, the growth of the St. Louis orchestra was gradual, not a purchase, when the orchestra was fairly municipal contributions. Our orchestra is supported by many givers of sums moderate as compared with other cities.

"On March 19 the orchestra departs for 80 concerts in 13 neighboring states. Will not the great business houses of St. Louis, which prosperity and territory is inspired with good will to St. Louis, make up the $27,000 still necessary? The officers, directors and sponsors are contributing $40,000.

"It is hoped that this appeal will receive careful consideration by our citizens and particularly by the various business interests of our city.
Checks should be sent to the St.
Louis Symphony Society, 210 University Club Building."

SUPPORTS ART MUSEUM BOARD

The Executive Committee of the St.
Louis Art League yesterday adopted a resolution opposing any legislation seeking to change the method of appointment of the Board of Control of the Art Museum. The resolution states that under its present management the Museum has "gained a standard of excellence nationally recognized." A law permitting the Mayor to name members of the board, which is now self-perpetuating, has been proposed. As indicated in Sunday's Post-Dispatch, the proposed bill probably will not be considered by the Legislature, no one having been found who will introduce it.

MANTELL ENHANCES COMEDY AND HORROR OF "LOUIS XI"

Actor Opens Season of Classic Plays
With Notable Portrait of Bloody Monarch—"Hamlet" Tonight.

Mr. Mantell, who opened a week's engagement last night at the American with Casimir Delavigne's "Louis XI," remembered as one of his most picturesque portraits, has endeavored to develop both the comic and grievous aspects of the play. The bloodthirsty tiger of France has grown amorous; he maulingly cuddles a buxom peasant woman and inquires the names of her lovers.
Louis also indulges in considerable doddering horseplay.

On the other hand, his executioner, Tristan, now strolls through the drama with a noose flung handily over his shoulder. The audience was fairly large,
and appeared to enjoy the play. The mob scenes were an object lesson in crude handling, and the drama itself

thanks to Tristan's offices, hang their limp, stuffed legs beneath a drop. This was ghastly, but not quite in the manner intended.

The veteran character actor's
Louis remains, as before, a triumph of make-up, facial expression and vicious old age. His wavings between criminal statecraft and groveling piety have received a judicious tinge. Under the grotesque mask, the actor gave us an idea of a great and inflexible monarch, with his eye upon one fixed purpose—the unity of France. The death scene was more than ever shuddersome.

This is a one-character play, and it suffices to mention Guy Linsley as Philip de Commines; Miss Hamper
as his daughter, Marie; Franklin Selsbury as the dauphin; John Alexander, as the Duke de Nemours;
A. C. Henderson, as Jacques Coitier; and Henry Buckler, as St. Francis de Paul. The audience was fairly large,
and appeared to enjoy the play. The mob scenes were an object lesson in
crude handling, and the drama itself

ST. LOUIS POST-DEPOTCH
GRAIN LIST HIGHER
ON LOCAL MARKET

Grain futures ruled higher on the March delivery contract, but the gains were only moderate. Wheat, corn and soybean prices were fairly steady. Hard winter wheat was 10 to 12 cents higher, while soft wheat was 5 to 10 cents higher. Corn was 10 to 12 cents higher, and soybeans were 10 to 12 cents higher. The market was generally quiet, with only a few scattered transactions.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—Today's stock market at times had the appearance of considerable strength, at other times it was just as decidedly heavy. In the end traders working for a reaction got the upper hand in the last quarter of the hour, and the list sold off, closing lower on the day. It was merely one of the downward turns in a market which has been moving back and forth within an unusually narrow range for over a month.

The Bond Market. Except that there was less pressure against foreign Government bonds which, while fluctuating in the more active foreign bond prices of Monday, were not sold in such great volume, the investment market changed very little today. The strength of railway shares, based on December earnings that are more dependable for their quotations on earnings than on any other factor. Such movements have followed monthly reports of railway revenues for some time, but there has been no permanent change in the market.

Clearings, Money, Silver. The St. Louis Clearing House Association report of Jan. 26, 1922, shows a total clearing of $1,200,000,000, an increase of $1,000,000,000 over the total clearing of $1,199,000,000 on Jan. 25. The total clearing for the month of January is $1,200,000,000, an increase of $1,000,000,000 over the total clearing of $1,199,000,000 on Jan. 25.

29,380 FREE VISITS MADE IN YEAR BY NURSE ASSOCIATION

The Visiting Nurse Association, in its annual report, summarizes the work of the year, stating that 13,591 white persons have been cared for and 17,135 visits paid to them. In addition 8829 negro patients have received attention and 32,813 visits made in the negro districts.

Only 700 of those treated were able to pay full or part cost of the work, while 3115 receiving medical treatment paid nothing. A total of 29,380 free visits were made.

The association has 22 white and nine colored nurses. During the year they have helped expectant mothers, given aid in obstetric cases, nursed sick people, and carried on a campaign for better living conditions in the poorer sections of the city.

The report cites a number of cases in which the visiting nurse was able to give aid at critical times. Co-operation with municipal nurses is maintained and the association works with many St. Louis doctors.

It has been the experience of visiting nurses, the report shows, that many families financially able to help themselves are ignorant of proper nursing methods. Old-fashioned ideas of ventilation, light and medicine still prevail in numerous homes, the nurses have found.

As supplement to the work of the nurses, directors of the association have given talks in factories on modern health methods. Figures quoted for the last year show an increase in the extent and efficiency of the visiting nurse work.

Not very much of an oil well but it made a tremendous splurge when it was shot. It was "brought in" near Martinsville in Clark County, Ill., and shot up three hundred feet, the summit being above the range of the camera lens. It is computed to be returning over one hundred barrels of oil a day.

THE GIRL IN THE CORNER APARTMENT

By MAY CHRISTIE

Copyright, 1922, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

—A NEW FRIEND.

THE CHARACTERS:
CYNTHIA BRENT, country girl, living in a New York apartment she has inherited from an old lady she once befriended.
RUBY ALLISON, her gay and frivolous friend.
ALEX KERR, Ruby's fiance.
QUENTIN GRAY, an artist friend of Ruby.
AUNT ELLEN, who keeps house for Cynthia.
MURRAY STEWART, for whom Cynthia is working as a stenographer.
MRS. WAKELAND, friend and rich client of Stewart, who takes a fancy to Cynthia.
VIOLET JERROLD, friend of Murray's.

TODAY'S INSTALLMENT.

ARRIVED at Mrs. Wake-land's big, old-fashioned house, Cynthia was ushered by a smart maid into the drawing-room.

It was a charming apartment. Good taste was in evidence everywhere. The walls and carpet were of a soft French gray and the hangings blue.

On each side of a crackling wood fire that spluttered on a big Chesterfield couch, piled with neutral-tinted cushions that harmonized delightfully with the blue-gray room.

On a gray bearskin rug in front of the fire slumbered a gray Persian pussy-cat.

Behind him was drawn up a low, brass-topped table, with a white cloth upon it, and shining silver, and tea-cups and plates in a soft blue that exactly matched the hangings of the room.

In a corner was a grand piano, with two photographs in silver frames on its wide, polished top.

And in another corner was an old-fashioned harp.

The room was full of flowers, and the fire drew out their fragrance, so that waves of delightful scent greeted Cynthia as she entered. There were bowls of violets on small tables, and a great trail of lilacs in a rough-cast jar.

And on the tea-table, and in a crevice on each side of the mantel-piece, were vases full of blue larkspur, with gracefully nodding heads.

Cynthia drew a breath of appreciation. What a lovely home this was!

The maid withdrew and she was left alone.

She was rather early. It was not yet 4 o'clock.

She seated herself on a small chair that, unlike the other furniture of the apartment, was designed more for looks than comfort.

Outside the windows—and there were many of them—was a glimpse of green leaves and the branches of trees.

"I wish there were green, growing things outside my little flat!" thought Cynthia, and registered a decision, that she would, at any rate, have window-boxes with geraniums or marguerites, or both—if she couldn't have a real garden with trees.

"My dear, how pleased I am to see you! And all the more so that you've come early, so that you and I can have a little chat before other people arrive to interrupt us." Mrs. Wake-land had come noiselessly in. She caught Cynthia's hand and gave it a kindly pressure.

"It was awfully good of you to ask me. I'm sorry I was out yesterday when you called." The young girl flushed with pleasure and a touch of shyness.

"So was I. But you're here now, and we'll have our little talk, my dear." Mrs. Wake-land led the way to the Chesterfield, which faced the windows. "We'll draw this up to the fire a bit, because it's turning into a rather chilly day. And I do love warmth! I'm a regular salamander."

She patted and plumped the cushions into a cozy pile, and placed them behind her guest's back when the girl had seated herself.

Noting her little touch of shyness and awkwardness, she went on gallily:

"Yes, I love heat. And the sun. One doesn't get enough of either here. Perhaps that's why I've roamed the world so much. Three years in India and three in California. And a winter in Australia, where it was summer-time. That was not so very long ago. I'll never forget the sea bathing and 'surfing' at Manly Beach in Sydney, December before last. One dried in a few minutes afterwards in the hot sun."

Cynthia's interest was aroused, and her shyness quite evaporated. She had always yearned to travel. Now here was someone who had traveled, and could talk about it, too.

"Oh, I envy you," she said, in her soft, beguiling voice, admiration in the eyes, which Quentin Gray had likened to "pools of darkness." "I envy you with all my heart."

"You envy me? Why, you foolish child, that's too absurd!" Mrs. Wake-land looked taken aback. "You, with all your days and your happiness before you—"

She broke off, and it seemed for a fleeting moment as though the shadow of tragedy had fallen on her brightness.

Then, as though she thrust the mood away, the shadow lifted, and she smiled one of the sweetest smiles Cynthia had ever seen.

"The next time I go traveling, I'd like to take you with me. There was an unmistakable ring of sincerity in her voice, which was low, well-bred and charming.

"Oh, I would love it," then Cynthia's face lit up. "But I couldn't leave the apartment, and Aunt Ellen, and my work, of course."

"But me no buts," the other quoted, laughing. "Anyhow, we'll see. I'm a very determined person when I set my hand on anything, let me warn you."

She plumped another soft-toned cushion up, placed it behind her back, leaned comfortably against it and said quietly:

"You interest me, my dear. And I'm not interested in a great many women. But I've the sort of feeling—I can't analyze it, it's just intuition—that you and I are going to be friends."

Cynthia flushed with pleasure. Her sensitive, rather lonely little heart was touched.

"Oh, thank you, I—I need—I've never really had—a woman friend—not since mother died." The dark eyes had filled with quick tears, and she tried vainly to blink them back.

"How long since you lost her?" A sympathetic understanding lay on Margaret Wake-land's face, with the little lines about the eyes that suffering had brought. She touched Cynthia's hand for a second reassuringly.

"About two years, though it seems longer."

"And you've lived all your life, so far, in a tiny village in the country? Why?"

"Cynthia's dark eyes were lifted." "Because the air of the place suited my mother, who was an invalid. After she died, I suppose I had got into a groove. I was frightened of the outside world. I think—bravely—I think lots of girls must be like that. Timid and ignorant, and—and narrow."

Tomorrow: Friendly Warning.

PEACH FLUFF

RUB one cup of peaches through strainer, add one cup granulated sugar, one white of egg. Beat all together with Dover egg beater about 15 minutes, or until thick, and dip over cup cakes made of one cup sugar, two rounded tablespoons oleo, one cup sour milk, two cups flour sifted with one teaspoon soda and four teaspoons baking powder. Add flavoring and one egg yolk (one-half of this is enough for small family). This dessert uses bits of sour milk and fruit which otherwise would go to waste.

Iconoclastic Woman Author Destroys Prince Charming for the Romantic Girls of Today

Calls Him "a Damn Idiot" in Book, "The Love Legend," and Thinks He Ought to Be Abolished—Fairy Princes Have Brought Great Unhappiness.

By Marguerite Mooers Marshall.

(Copyright, 1923.)

IS the girl of today waiting for her fairy prince?

Does she still believe in this romantic hero of the love legend, "the prince who is to come and change the world with a magic kiss"?

She isn't, and she doesn't, if we may believe the distinctively modern heroine of that recently published novel, "The Love Legend," by Mrs. Woodward Boyd. This young woman turns her prince down hard, and punctures his legend in this fashion:

"I realize that it's love, young love, I'm giving up. But what's the use? It isn't enough for me. I must have a man that I can admire and respect. Like the prince of the fairy tale? No, no, no. That's the trouble with the damn idiot. He's the protagonist of that old story, with nothing more to recommend him but his damn fool 100 per cent American smile. He's moulded, stamped after a pattern. There are millions like him all over the country, all thinking the same silly little thoughts."

Not a Kind Word for "Prince."

And when I asked the pretty young wife and mother who wrote "The Love Legend," if she, too, felt that Prince Charming is about to be abolished, along with most of the other royalties, I found that she hadn't a kind word for him and that she thinks the old-fashioned mother is the only friend he has left.

"Girls are still being brought up on the theory that nothing is too good for them," she admitted. "But unhappiness both before and after marriage is every day resulting from this absurd legend of the fairy prince."

For Mrs. Boyd thinks that the girl whose old-school mother has talked to her about the ideal man that will come into her life some day, without the slightest effort on the girl's part, makes the girl herself altogether too "choosy."

"The unpopular girl," she pointed out, "whose implicit faith that such a man will walk into her life prevents her from filling her life with other interests until too late, is not the sole victim."

"I have seen beautiful girls go through love affairs galore, wrecked and ruined by the unheavenly and painful, still searching for the unattainable. Whether beautiful or unpopular, if they do finally marry their husbands, as likely as not, are in for suffering. Under secret comparison with the Prince Charming, what man can charm?"

Resentment After Marriage.

Mrs. Boyd cited one very beautiful woman who married for love. "After eight years of marriage, she is still vaguely sad, resentful and rebellious," she pointed out. "Why? Because she has just a husband and not a perfect creature who will rush at all hours to gratify her smallest wish."

"Perhaps the great tragedy is to marry the prince. Tragic love affairs have the poetic and permanent quality of a work of art. Happy ones often would deteriorate into mere every-day contentment."

"But when you say that the Fairy Prince is and ought to be dying out, do you mean that love itself is no longer important in a girl's life?" I asked.

The author of the "Love Legend" shook her head in quick denial.

"Girls," she said, "are talking more about love today than ever, and are more frank in facing the issues of life. The girl with a career who asserts that she is crowding love out of her life is deceiving herself or trying to deceive someone else. Women are getting more independent of men—their independence is rarely anything more than financial."

"Why, the stay-at-home girl," laughed Mrs. Boyd, "sometimes goes deliberately out into the business world just for the purpose of widening her matrimonial chances."

Business and Love.

"Going to business," she added wisely, "will never get a girl a husband. If she is too stiff, too self-conscious, it may lumber her up a bit, but business hours are not particularly propitious for casting the net. Men are capable of greater detachment during business hours than women, and they are often irritated by the intrusion of femininity, as such, into their business frame of mind."

Other girls, Mrs. Boyd notes, show their interest in love and life technique by studying with secret intentness all the little "vamps" of their acquaintance.

"One girl," she said, "told me that she had watched her sister in action and thought that she had bagged all her tricks. 'Anyone can learn them,' she said. 'You hear of girls going to the movies to study Gloria Swanson seriously to see how it is done. Yet, of course, only very young, attractive girls can 'get away' with such absurd studied lines, and then only because they are so attractive anyway.'"

"Well, then," said I, "what is the moral? How can a girl catch the lover she wants, even if he isn't to be a fairy prince?"

"If you stay at home, don't sit at home," Mrs. Boyd advised, a bit cryptically—but I think the girls will know what she means. "A nonchalant air," she added, with a twinkle, "and all the feminine wiles you can muster are just as successful and important as ever."

And I'm going to add what ought to be one other piece of tactics for every self-respecting girl—the resolution taken by the most old-fashioned and "romantic" young person in "The Love Legend."

"Never would she sob herself to sleep, or wait tense with misery beside a telephone that didn't ring. That sort of love was criminal—destructive—debasing."

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaelis

The Friend Who Is Far Away.

WHEN the hours are heaped up, full measure, with their portion of play and work; with the joys that are ours to treasure, with the duties we would not shirk; when the days are as fleet in going as a leaf on the whirling wind, when time's ripples are swiftly flowing, distant friends are not brought to mind. For the snares of the world enchain us, we are caught in its far-flung net and, however the thought may pain us, there are days when we do—forget! We forget in the fret and flurry, in the haste of our passing mood, the old smile that could banish worry and the handclasp that understood. But as soon as a lull comes creeping through the maze of the busy hours, then the love that has just been sleeping wakes again like the fragrant flowers. It may be when the twilight's falling and the shadows are marching on, it may be when the robin's calling to his mate in the flush of dawn. But, whatever the time or reason, it is always a bright, or day when we dream for a little season of the friend who is far away. It is always the same old story when we tire of the strife and din in the struggle for gold or glory which, some way, we hope to win, then in idle hours we ponder on the good old times of yore and the friend who is way off yonder comes back to our heart once more. And a happy glow comes gleaming through even the darkest day when we turn from our toil to dreaming of the friend who is far away.

In the South Dakota elections Miss Gladys Pyle, the State's first woman legislator, was chosen to the Legislature with a plurality of 2186 votes, which was 250 more than any other candidate in the State received.

HEROINES of HISTORY

Significant Incidents in the Lives of Famous Women

By MARK STUYVESANT

The Way Mrs. Browning Found Love as Well as Fame.

OW all the women poets of the world there is none who stands out with more radiance than Elizabeth Barrett Browning.

This woman, who enriched English literature with her beautiful novel in poetry, "Aurora Leigh," and adorned it with her exquisite "Sonnets from the Portuguese," with the daughter of a rich West Indian merchant of England.

Elizabeth Barrett was born in 1809, and during her early life struggled through one illness after another. She was a very precocious child. On account of her delicate physique she could not romp and play like other children. Instead, she read and studied and wrote rhymes.

When she was a young girl, her adored brother was drowned before her eyes at Torquay, where she had gone for her health. This tragedy broke her completely. For years after she lived in a large, darkened room—a confirmed invalid.

But her life was not one of indolence because of this physical handicap. She wrote and wrote exquisitely. Romance was her great theme. And as it was so much of her life and mind it seemed only fitting that even into this sick room it should find its way.

Robert Browning read and was charmed by her poems. He begged permission to call on the poetess. There, in the presence of her nurse, he declared his love for her, and begged her to marry him. He was six years younger than she.

Realizing what a burden she would be to him, Elizabeth declined. But this did not prevent the great poet from continuing to implore her to be his wife.

This was not the only difficulty. Her father absolutely had forbidden any of his three daughters to marry.

Browning was forbidden to enter the Barrett house. So the lovers had to communicate through the mail.

PARIS GOWNS FOR EVENING AND

Left: Quite colonial seems the appearance of this pretty gown of mallow-colored muslin, decorated with little roses and stripes of embroidery of the same color.
Second: Rose-colored muslin over white, trimmed with bands of pleated silk and large cocardes at the belt and side.

Third: Fresh from Paris is this creation, with the lace belts—this one of pearls.

These wonderful love letters were published after their deaths.

Elizabeth's father declared that if she married she could never enter his house again.

But these two loved each other so deeply that Elizabeth's health and her father's threats could not keep them apart.

The invalid ran away and was secretly married to her poet lover. They left England and went to the continent. Elizabeth never again saw her home. Her father never forgave her.

But her husband's love was sufficient. For their life together is one of the beautiful romances of history.

Although a very frail woman, Elizabeth Barrett Browning bore a son. Her life was then complete.

This happy family lived in Italy and wrote together. Their home was in Florence. You can see there today their home, marked by a white door, in Italian, reading "Here wrote and died Elizabeth Barrett Browning, who was the daughter of a woman joined the sea-scholar, and the spirit of a poet, and who made, with her verse, a nuptial ring between England and England. Grateful places this memorial."

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

Trying to Fool Shadow the Weasel.

By Thornton W. Burgess.

You'll find that as a general rule Clever folks are hard to fool.

—Shadow the Weasel.

OLD JED THUMPER scampered lipperty-lipperty lip along the cow paths in the Old Pasture toward that part where he thought Peter Rabbit might be. Every once in a while he would stop to sit up and listen. For some time he found no trace of Peter. Then up in the far corner of the Old Pasture he heard the faint sound of hurrying feet on the hard packed snow. He knew that only a Rabbit's feet could make that sound. He thumped with his stout hind feet. There was no answering thump, but the sound of those hurrying feet drew nearer. Old Jed Thumper thumped again. Then down a cow path came Peter Rabbit.

"Where is he?" demanded Old Jed Thumper, and Peter knew that Old Jed Thumper knew who it was he was running from.

"I don't know," panted Peter. "I haven't seen him since I left the dear Old Briar Patch, but I know well enough he is following me. He may be right close now, and I'm so tired I don't feel as if I could run another step."

"Have you been running like this ever since you left the Old Briar Patch?" asked Old Jed Thumper.

Peter nodded. "Foolish," said Old Jed Thumper. "very foolish. That is just what Shadow expected you to do and wanted you to do. He can travel pretty fast himself, but you may be sure he won't run fast enough to tire himself out. He thinks you will and all he has to do is to follow your trail until he finds you too tired to get away from him. Now you rest while I keep watch."

So Peter rested until he had regained his breath, while Old Jed Thumper watched Peter's back trail. When Peter felt able to go on again Old Jed Thumper led the way. He led the way straight to a certain bramble tangle through which some of his private little paths led in all directions. They crossed and recrossed.

"Now," said Old Jed Thumper. "we'll run back and forth, and round and round through all these little paths."

So Peter and Old Jed Thumper hoped back and forth, and round and round through all the little paths, crossing and recrossing each other's trail. At last Old Jed Thumper was satisfied. He led the way to the edge of the bramble tangle. "Now," said he, "let me see how good a jumper you are. Jump as far as you can right over that little bush, and then go down to my old bull briar castle. I'll join you there later."

Peter did as he was told. He

He went right over that little bush and landed some distance beyond it.

Jumped with all his might. He went right over that little bush and landed some distance beyond it. Then he started off for the bull briar castle. As soon as he was out of sight Old Jed Thumper went to another side of the bramble tangle and left it with a big jump in the same way Peter had. Then he sat down in the midst of a little clump of bushes to watch and wait. (Copyright, 1923.)

'Tis Fun to Be a Boy

When summertime comes creepin' along

With birds that sing sweet songs Of happiness—'Tis fun to be a boy.

When the river flows slowly by An' bees are makin' honey—oh, my, In summertime—'Tis fun to be a boy.

When the crickets at night begin to sing— An' the old church bell on Sunday rings In summertime—'Tis fun to be a boy.

When the birds begin to seek their nests An' the old red sun sets in the west— Oh, in summertime—'Tis fun to be a boy.

The Power Within Me

By Sophie Irene Loeb.

WHEN I hear the sigh of the wind through the trees
 As I walk through the woods
 The cockles of my heart warm.
 When I listen to the song of the sea
 I know that there is an Eternity
 And a never-ending sphere beyond.

When I listen to the laughter of babes
 I feel that somewhere near
 There must be an angel.
 When my neighbor is glad
 I have no covetous for I know
 There is enough for all.
 When I compare those who are lowlier in the scale
 Of human endeavor than I am
 I can thank my stars for what I am,
 Though humble it may be.
 I have been able to stand alone
 And refuse to believe that the world owes me a living.
 And besides to be of use to someone,
 Someone who cares, and looks for my coming.
 The green-eyed monster oft comes along my path,
 But I strive to crush him out.

All these things I am able to do
 Because of the will within me.
 It is the will that moves the stars
 And brings the Seasons
 And turns the tide
 And grows the blade of grass
 Great and small.
 It is the power that pervades all space.
 And, therefore,
 It is the Power within me
 For good
 Which makes or mars my life
 As I use or abuse it.

FOOD FOR THE GODS

ONE pound of English walnuts.
 1 pound of dates.
 2 cups of powdered sugar.
 4 eggs.
 2 teaspoonfuls baking powder.
 2 tablespoonfuls of flour.
 Cut the dates in small pieces and mix thoroughly with the flour and one cup of sugar. Add the well-beaten egg and the other cup of sugar and the baking powder. If the mixture is too stiff add one tablespoonful of water. Bake in a shallow pan, well greased, in a slow oven for half an hour. Cut into squares and serve cold with whipped cream.

TOM BOY CORN

Extra sweet, tender, juicy. Finest package. Ask your neighborhood grocer.

ARMOUR'S FLOUR

Glutinous Flour

L-H flour is made from hard, winter wheat, which is remarkable for its high gluten content. Gluten, a very nourishing element of food, adds materially to the success of baking. It is a viscid, tenacious substance which gives adhesiveness to dough. You will find L-H flour especially adapted for home baking. Its success in bread, biscuits and cakes has made it famous.

Women prefer "L-H" to all other flours, once they try it. Sold by first-class dealers.

For the greatest cleaning value use Old Dutch

You'll find Old Dutch the most economical cleansing service you can use. It lasts longer; gives you more for your money.

The reason is that Old Dutch is a natural cleanser; a fine, flaky substance mined from the earth. Its particles, due to their shape, lie flat and therefore cover more surface than gritty particles. For that reason you use less Old Dutch and save time and effort in cleaning.

There's no hard grit in Old Dutch. It doesn't scratch the surface. A scratched surface, you know, collects dirt and not only makes cleaning difficult, but requires more frequent cleaning. Old Dutch leaves a clean surface, and a clean surface is always sanitary and wholesome.

There's nothing else like Old Dutch.
